

Sébastien Reneaux-Petel

GReCO-Institut d'Astrophysique de Paris

Cosmological Inflation and String Theory

In this talk, I will review the close links between the epoch of cosmological inflation and string theory. After reviewing the basics of inflation, I will emphasize its UV-sensitivity through several examples, displaying the rich phenomenology of inflation beyond the simplest models. I will also explain how inflation, through primordial non-Gaussianities, acts as a true particle detector.